

Endangered Species Trivia: Questions, Answers, and Facts Printable Trivia Pack

Endangered Species trivia explores the animals and plants now at greatest risk of extinction, from well-known icons to lesser-known species whose habitats are rapidly shrinking. Framed by decades of conservation science and landmark laws such as the Endangered Species Act of 1973, it offers a family-friendly way to learn how biodiversity is measured, why species decline, and what recovery can look like.

HARD ENDANGERED SPECIES TRIVIA

1. Which species was declared extinct in the wild in 1972, only to become a later reintroduction story?

Answer: Arabian oryx

2. Before vanishing in the 17th century, the dodo's final home was on what island?

Answer: Mauritius

3. In 1987, conservationists removed the last wild individuals of which species to begin a captive-breeding recovery effort?

Answer: California condor

4. Which conservationist is most closely associated with wild cat conservation?

Answer: Alan Rabinowitz

5. Which Kenyan conservationist is especially known for elephant protection?

Answer: Paula Kahumbu

6. Which scientist has been noted for work on species including both bison and saiga?

Answer: Joel Berger

7. Which researcher became especially known for work on coral reef resilience?

Answer: Ruth Gates

8. Founded by Gerald Durrell in 1963, what conservation organization is being described?

Answer: Durrell Wildlife Conservation Trust

9. Which global initiative is specifically supported by the IUCN and partners?

Answer: Save Our Species

10. A tiny population discovered in Wyoming in 1981 reversed assumptions that which animal had vanished from the wild?

Answer: Black-footed ferret

11. Which deer species survived in captivity and was later reintroduced to China?

Answer: Père David's deer

12. One of the world's largest eagles by length is which species?

Answer: Philippine eagle

13. What fish hangs on in a single water-filled cavern in Nevada?

Answer: Devils Hole pupfish

14. Which bird vanished from Europe for centuries before modern reintroduction efforts brought it back?

Answer: Northern bald ibis

FUNNY ENDANGERED SPECIES TRIVIA

1. Which endangered animal is famous for a nose that looks like it arrived five minutes before the rest of its face?

Answer: The proboscis monkey.

2. What deep-sea creature became an internet celebrity because its face looks especially droopy out of water?

Answer: The blobfish.

3. Which endangered mammal seems to have misplaced most of its coat, having almost no fur?

Answer: The naked mole-rat.

4. Which tiny armored animal wins the 'small but stylish' award by being the smallest armadillo species?

Answer: The pink fairy armadillo.

5. Which endangered animal delivers venom using grooves in its teeth, which is a pretty rude dental feature?

Answer: The solenodon.

6. Which shark looks like it borrowed its face from a fantasy villain thanks to a long flattened snout?

Answer: The goblin shark.

7. Which reptile has a light-sensitive 'third eye' on top of its head, as if two eyes were simply not ambitious enough?

Answer: The tuatara.

8. What creature uses 22 fleshy appendages around its nose to feel for prey, basically turning its face into a multitool?

Answer: The star-nosed mole.

9. Which turtle's head looks so leafy that it could probably hide in a salad bowl?

Answer: The matamora turtle.

10. Which bird sports a dangling throat wattle like it forgot to remove a strange necktie?

Answer: The long-wattled umbrellabird.

11. Which lanky browser can stand on its hind legs to reach leaves, like a diner stretching for the top shelf?

Answer: The gerenuk.

12. Which bird carries the gloomy nickname 'undertaker bird'?

Answer: The marabou stork.

13. Which small mammal can communicate by rubbing specialized quills together, basically making tiny body-noise announcements?

Answer: The lowland streaked tenrec.

FUN ENDANGERED SPECIES TRIVIA

1. What bird group sounds more like a fashion parade than a flock: a flamboyance of what animals?

Answer: Flamingos

2. Which ocean traveler uses Earth's magnetic field like a built-in map?

Answer: Sea turtles

3. True or false: Koalas have fingerprints very similar to human fingerprints.?

Answer: True

4. If an octopus sent valentines, how many hearts would it be sending them from?

Answer: Three hearts

5. Which scaly animal is the only mammal covered in true scales?

Answer: Pangolin

6. Which animal is famous for regrowing lost limbs, as if it had a built-in repair kit?

Answer: Axolotl

7. Among fish, who carries the title for the largest brain?

Answer: Manta ray

8. In a role reversal worthy of a nature sitcom, which animal has males that carry the developing young?

Answer: Seahorses

9. Which slow-moving animal can actually hold its breath longer than dolphins?

Answer: Sloths

10. What Arctic animal is best known for its long spiral tusk?

Answer: Narwhal

11. Which ape shares much of its DNA with humans?

Answer: Bonobo

12. Which antelope is instantly recognizable for its large, flexible nose?

Answer: Saiga antelope

13. Which big African bird looks like it borrowed its beak from a shoe store?

Answer: Shoebill

ENDANGERED SPECIES FAMILY TRIVIA

1. In what year was the Endangered Species Act signed into U.S. law?

Answer: 1973

2. What important conservation list began in 1964?

Answer: The IUCN Red List

3. Which tiger-protection effort was launched in India in 1973?

Answer: Project Tiger

4. Kaziranga National Park is in which Indian state?

Answer: Assam

5. Which national park in Indonesia protects the last wild Javan rhinos?

Answer: Ujung Kulon National Park

6. Chitwan National Park in Nepal is especially known for which animal?

Answer: One-horned rhinoceroses

7. Which reserve in China is known for giant panda conservation?

Answer: Wolong National Nature Reserve

8. Tubbataha Reefs Natural Park lies in which country?

Answer: The Philippines

9. What island is the last wild home of the Hainan gibbon?

Answer: Hainan Island

10. The critically endangered Yangtze finless porpoise lives in which river?

Answer: The Yangtze River

11. Which famous researcher is known for chimpanzee research in Tanzania?

Answer: Jane Goodall

12. Who is strongly linked with the study of mountain gorillas?

Answer: Dian Fossey

EASY ENDANGERED SPECIES TRIVIA

1. Which endangered animal is native to China?

Answer: The giant panda is native to China.

2. The vaquita lives only in which body of water?

Answer: The vaquita lives only in the northern Gulf of California.

3. Which endangered bird is a flightless parrot from New Zealand?

Answer: The kakapo is a flightless parrot from New Zealand.

4. Mountain gorillas live in the mountains of which region?

Answer: Mountain gorillas live in the mountains of central Africa.

5. What is the largest animal on Earth?

Answer: The blue whale is the largest animal on Earth.

6. Which rhino survives in only one wild population?

Answer: The Javan rhino survives in only one wild population.

7. Which big cat is one of the rarest in the world?

Answer: The Amur leopard is one of the rarest big cats in the world.

8. Which animal uses rocks like tools to crack open shellfish?

Answer: Sea otters use rocks to crack open shellfish.

9. Which tree-loving endangered animal spends much of its time in branches?

Answer: Red pandas spend much of their time in trees.

10. Orangutans are native to which two islands?

Answer: Orangutans are native to the islands of Borneo and Sumatra.

11. Lemurs live in the wild only on which island?

Answer: Madagascar is the only place where lemurs live in the wild.

12. Which cat species is the largest?

Answer: The tiger is the largest cat species.

13. African elephants are threatened by poaching for what material?

Answer: African elephants are threatened by ivory poaching.

Source: <https://triviagong.com/themes/endangered-species>