

LiveJournal Trivia: Questions, Answers, and Facts Printable Trivia Pack

LiveJournal trivia explores the long-running platform that Brad Fitzpatrick launched on April 15, 1999, to keep his high school friends updated on his activities. Over time, it grew from an early online journaling community into a Russian-owned social networking service where users could publish blogs, journals, and diaries. Its mix of internet-era nostalgia, community culture, and unusual milestones makes it a rich subject for trivia.

HARD LIVEJOURNAL TRIVIA

1. In what month and year did Six Apart acquire LiveJournal?

Answer: January 2005

2. Which company bought LiveJournal from Six Apart in 2007?

Answer: SUP Media

3. SUP Media, the company that acquired LiveJournal in 2007, is what kind of company?

Answer: A Russian media company

4. After the SUP Media deal, LiveJournal became tied more closely to what kind of ownership base?

Answer: Russia-based ownership

5. LiveJournal users could choose between free accounts and what other account type?

Answer: Paid accounts

6. Historically, what did paid LiveJournal accounts unlock beyond basic posting?

Answer: Extra features

7. Instead of limiting interaction to flat guestbook-style messages, LiveJournal centered discussion around what structure?

Answer: Comment threads

8. What type of LiveJournal account could import updates from outside feeds?

Answer: Syndicated accounts

9. LiveJournal helped popularize posting controls beyond simply public or private. What specific kind of audience setting did it include?

Answer: Custom visibility groups

10. On LiveJournal, communities were designed more like what than standalone forums?

Answer: Shared journals

11. What direct-access feature did each LiveJournal entry have?

Answer: A permanent link

12. Even after LiveJournal changed hands, which person remained closely identified with the service?

Answer: Brad Fitzpatrick

13. Because it combined identity pages, social lists, and comments, LiveJournal can be described as what kind of early platform?

Answer: An early social publishing hybrid

14. After its ownership shift, LiveJournal became especially significant in what linguistic sphere of the internet?

Answer: The Russian-language internet

FUNNY LIVEJOURNAL TRIVIA

1. On LiveJournal, if someone said they were "reading friends," what were they actually doing?

Answer: Following accounts.

2. True or false: A "friends-only" LiveJournal post had to be seen by just one or two close friends.?

Answer: False

3. LiveJournal posts could answer two dramatic questions at once: "How do you feel?" and "What are you listening to?" What two post details were those?

Answer: Mood and music.

4. The name LiveJournal is basically two simple ideas taped together. Which two words make it up?

Answer: Live and Journal.

5. What was quirky about the old stylization "LiVEJOURNAL" ?

Answer: It used unusual capital letters in the middle of the name.

6. LiveJournal communities were a bit like clubs, except everyone showed up carrying what instead of snacks?

Answer: Text.

7. LiveJournal helped internet strangers know one oddly specific profile detail about you. What was it?

Answer: Your favorite bands.

8. What was LiveJournal's early goal before it became a whole online habitat for opinions and icons?

Answer: Keeping one programmer's friends updated.

9. LiveJournal pulled a neat trick with the word "journal." Into what did it turn that notebook word?

Answer: A web address.

10. Unlike many later social platforms known for quick blurbs, LiveJournal became famous for having what?

Answer: Lots of words.

11. Who usually ran a LiveJournal community: a club president or a moderator?

Answer: A moderator.

12. What two-letter shorthand was much shorter than the famously long posts it referred to?

Answer: LJ.

13. LiveJournal let people post diary-style thoughts to a bigger audience than what very non-digital surface?

Answer: A bedroom wall.

FUN LIVEJOURNAL TRIVIA

1. Which horned character served as LiveJournal's mascot?

Answer: Frank the Goat served as LiveJournal's mascot.

2. What animal figure became one of LiveJournal's best-known symbols?

Answer: Frank the Goat became one of LiveJournal's best-known symbols.

3. LiveJournal helped popularize what phrase for the feed showing journals you followed?

Answer: It popularized the term 'friends page.'

4. True or false: Early internet fandoms often gathered in LiveJournal communities.?

Answer: True

5. If someone joined a month-long writing challenge online, which platform was widely known for that kind of prompt culture?

Answer: LiveJournal was widely used for personal blog challenges and writing prompts.

6. What little post feature made many LiveJournal entries feel emotionally labeled at a glance?

Answer: Mood indicators.

7. Besides text, what 'currently playing' style detail was a familiar field on many LiveJournal entries?

Answer: A music field.

8. LiveJournal users often gave their journals extra personality by customizing what?

Answer: Their journal themes.

9. Which online sharing scene did LiveJournal help shape in its early years: fanfiction archives, recipe indexing, or travel booking?

Answer: Fanfiction sharing.

10. LiveJournal was part of what broader early-2000s internet wave?

Answer: The blogging boom.

11. Many LiveJournal communities revolved around which kinds of interests?

Answer: TV, books, music, or celebrities.

12. What small image type did users commonly use so others could recognize them quickly on LiveJournal?

Answer: Avatar-style userpics.

13. In the 2000s, LiveJournal became a hub for memes and what kind of communities?

Answer: Challenge communities.

LIVEJOURNAL FAMILY TRIVIA

1. On LiveJournal, what can you add to keep up with another user's posts?

Answer: You can add them as friends.

2. What is the name of the LiveJournal page that gathers updates from the accounts you follow?

Answer: The friends page.

3. If someone wants to respond underneath a LiveJournal post, what can they leave?

Answer: Comments.

4. What does LiveJournal call the user-created groups people can join and post in?

Answer: Communities.

5. Where do posts go when they are made inside a LiveJournal community?

Answer: They appear in shared group spaces.

6. What is the LiveJournal name for the icons users choose for their accounts?

Answer: Userpics.

7. A LiveJournal profile can list what kinds of likes and hobbies under one section?

Answer: Interests.

8. Besides interests, what kind of personal information can a LiveJournal profile show?

Answer: Biographical details about the user.

9. If you want everyone to be able to read a LiveJournal post, which visibility setting fits?

Answer: Public.

10. Which LiveJournal setting keeps a post limited to the people on your friends list?

Answer: Friends only.

11. What feature lets a LiveJournal user decide who is allowed to read a post?

Answer: Privacy controls.

12. Are LiveJournal journal entries typically arranged from newest to oldest?

Answer: Yes, they are organized in reverse-chronological order.

EASY LIVEJOURNAL TRIVIA

1. Who started LiveJournal?

Answer: Brad Fitzpatrick

2. On what date did LiveJournal launch?

Answer: April 15, 1999

3. LiveJournal was first created so Brad Fitzpatrick could update which group of people?

Answer: His high school friends

4. What kind of online service is LiveJournal?

Answer: A social networking service

5. What can users keep on LiveJournal: a blog, a playlist, or a storefront?

Answer: A blog

6. LiveJournal users can keep what kind of personal record often associated with daily thoughts?

Answer: A journal

7. True or false: If someone says they used LiveJournal like a personal diary, are they describing a real use of the site?

Answer: True

8. How is the platform's name correctly written?

Answer: LiveJournal

9. In what year did LiveJournal start?

Answer: 1999

10. What does LiveJournal let users publish online with dates attached?

Answer: Entries

11. What is a common abbreviation for LiveJournal?

Answer: LJ

12. LiveJournal accounts are centered on what?

Answer: User journals

13. Besides blogging, what else does LiveJournal include?

Answer: Social features

Source: <https://triviagong.com/trivia/livejournal-trivia>